

Building Clinical and Community Collaboratives through Evidence-Based Programs

JOAN HATEM ROY, LICSW^{1,2}, JENNIFER RAYMOND, MBA^{1,3}, SUSAN POLUDNIAK, RD,LDN^{1,2}
HEALTHY LIVING CENTER OF EXCELLENCE¹, ELDER SERVICES OF THE MERRIMACK VALLEY, INC², HEBREW SENIORLIFE³

The Model

The Healthy Living Center of Excellence (HLCE) is a partnership between a community based organization (Elder Services) and a medical provider (Hebrew SeniorLife) with a goal of integrating community social services within in the health care delivery system. Funded by the Tufts Health Plan Foundation , John A. Hartford Foundation, and Administration on Community Living, the HLCE focuses on evidence-based health promotion programs as a primary mechanism for fostering community and clinical linkages. Along with Partners in Care Foundation, Los Angeles, California, the HLCE seeks to build increased awareness of the benefits of integrating community based services in the health care delivery system. The HLCE model is derived from the Chronic Care Model developed by Ed Wagner, M.D., M.P.H.

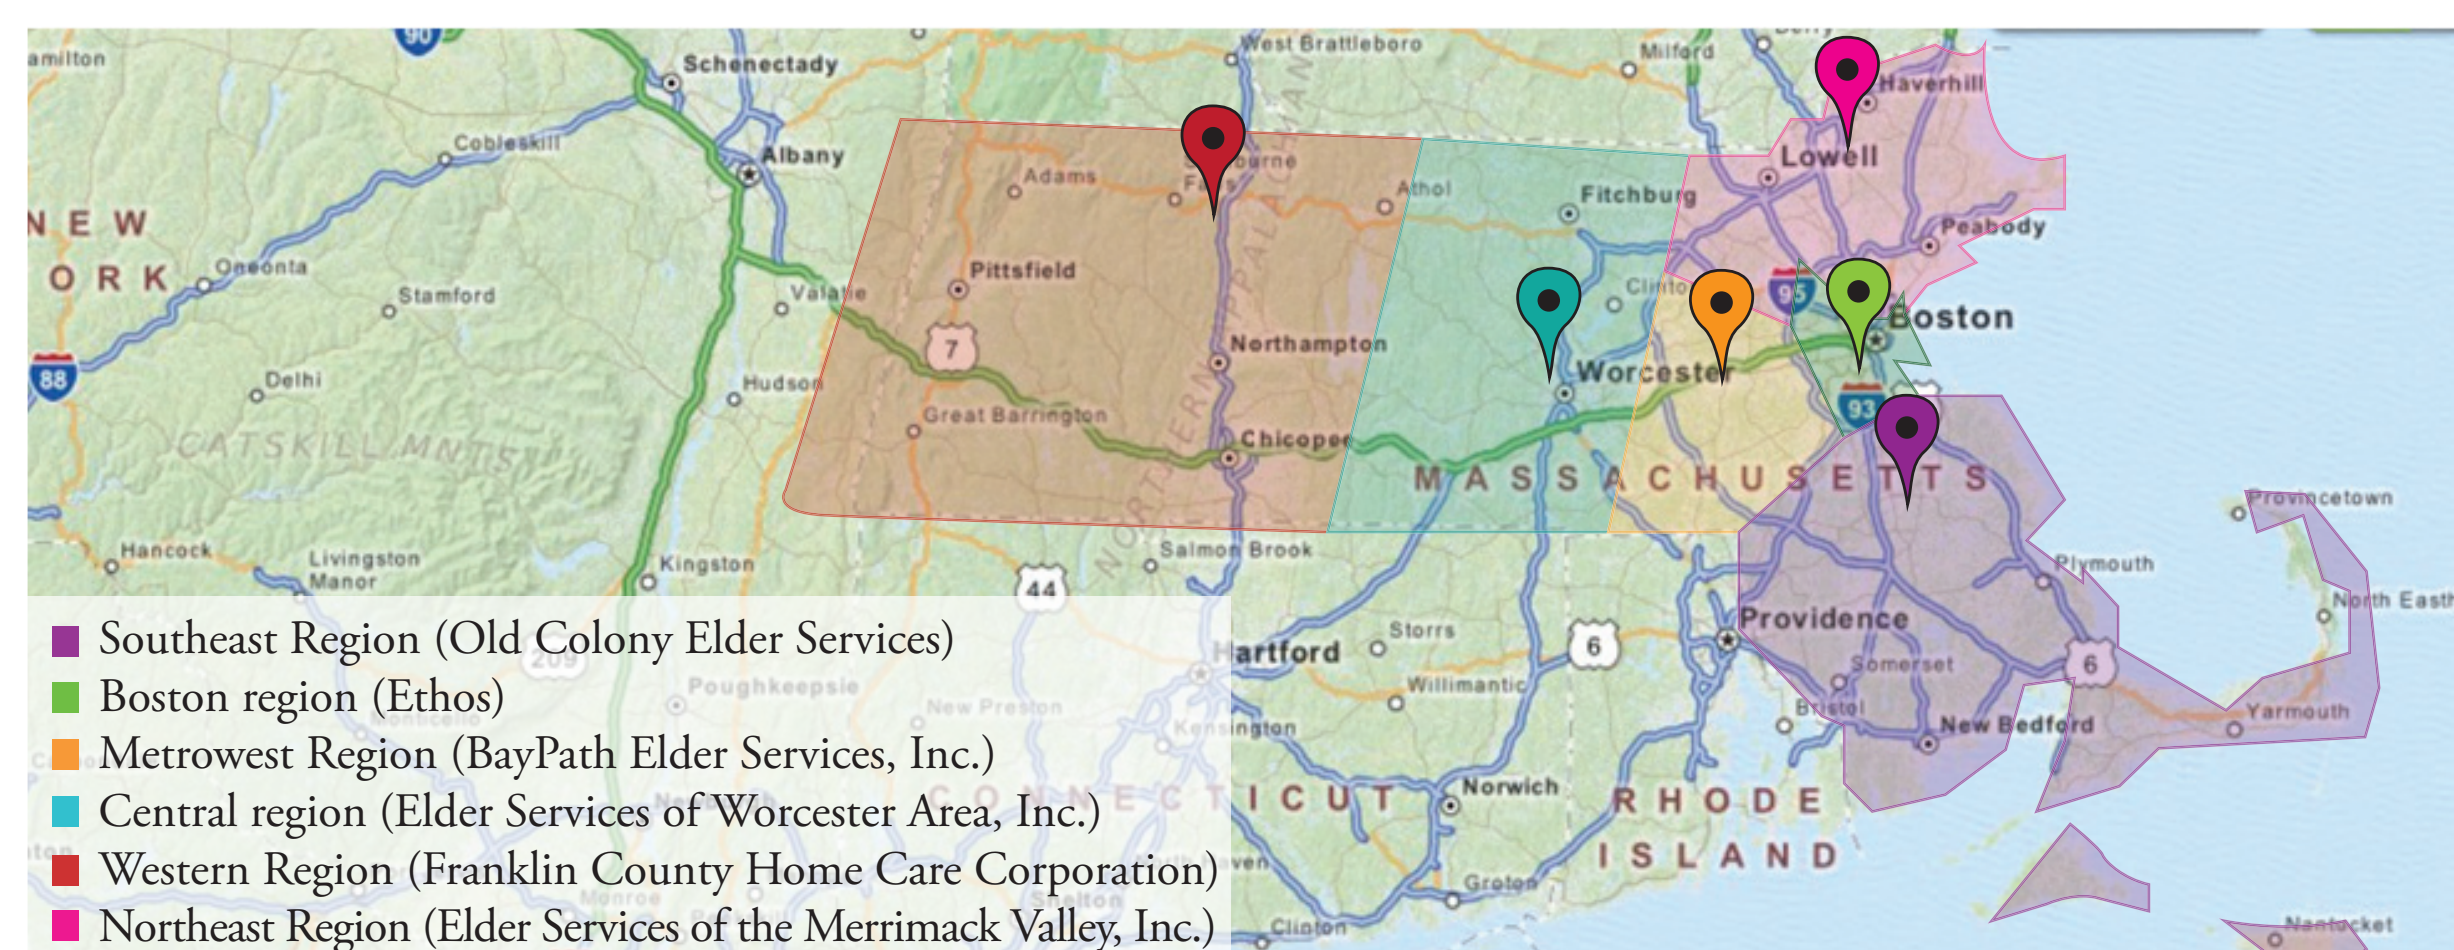

<http://www.improvingchroniccare.org>.

Regional Collaboratives

Through the use of six regional collaboratives covering all of Massachusetts, the HLCE embeds evidence-based programs in diverse community settings. Health care providers can refer any adult patient with one or more chronic conditions to these community programs by contacting the HLCE via one 1-800 number or email address or by submitting referrals via website, www.healthyliving4me.org

Each regional collaborative consists of community based organizations with capacity to implement evidence-based programs in diverse settings and serving diverse populations. This allows community organizations to meet the needs of health care organizations and their patients.

Key Features

- Statewide Disease Management Coalition with website and universal license.
- Six (6) regional collaboratives, maintaining local sensitivities and Advisory Council.
- Centralized referral, technical assistance, learning collaborative, and quality assurance.
- Multi-program, multi-venue, across the lifespan approach.
- Diversification of funding for sustainability (HMO, ACO, Foundation, etc).
- Diabetes Self-Management Reimbursement under Medicare.
- Integration of EBP as a funded interventions under CCTP (3026).

Health Care Partnerships

Common Goals for the Medical Community & COA's

What's in it for me?

- High quality, coordinated care
- Improved access
- Reduced avoidable cost
- Unnecessary hospital re-admission
- Follow up on chronic conditions
- Patient satisfaction and activation

Dedham Medical Associates & Hebrew SeniorLife

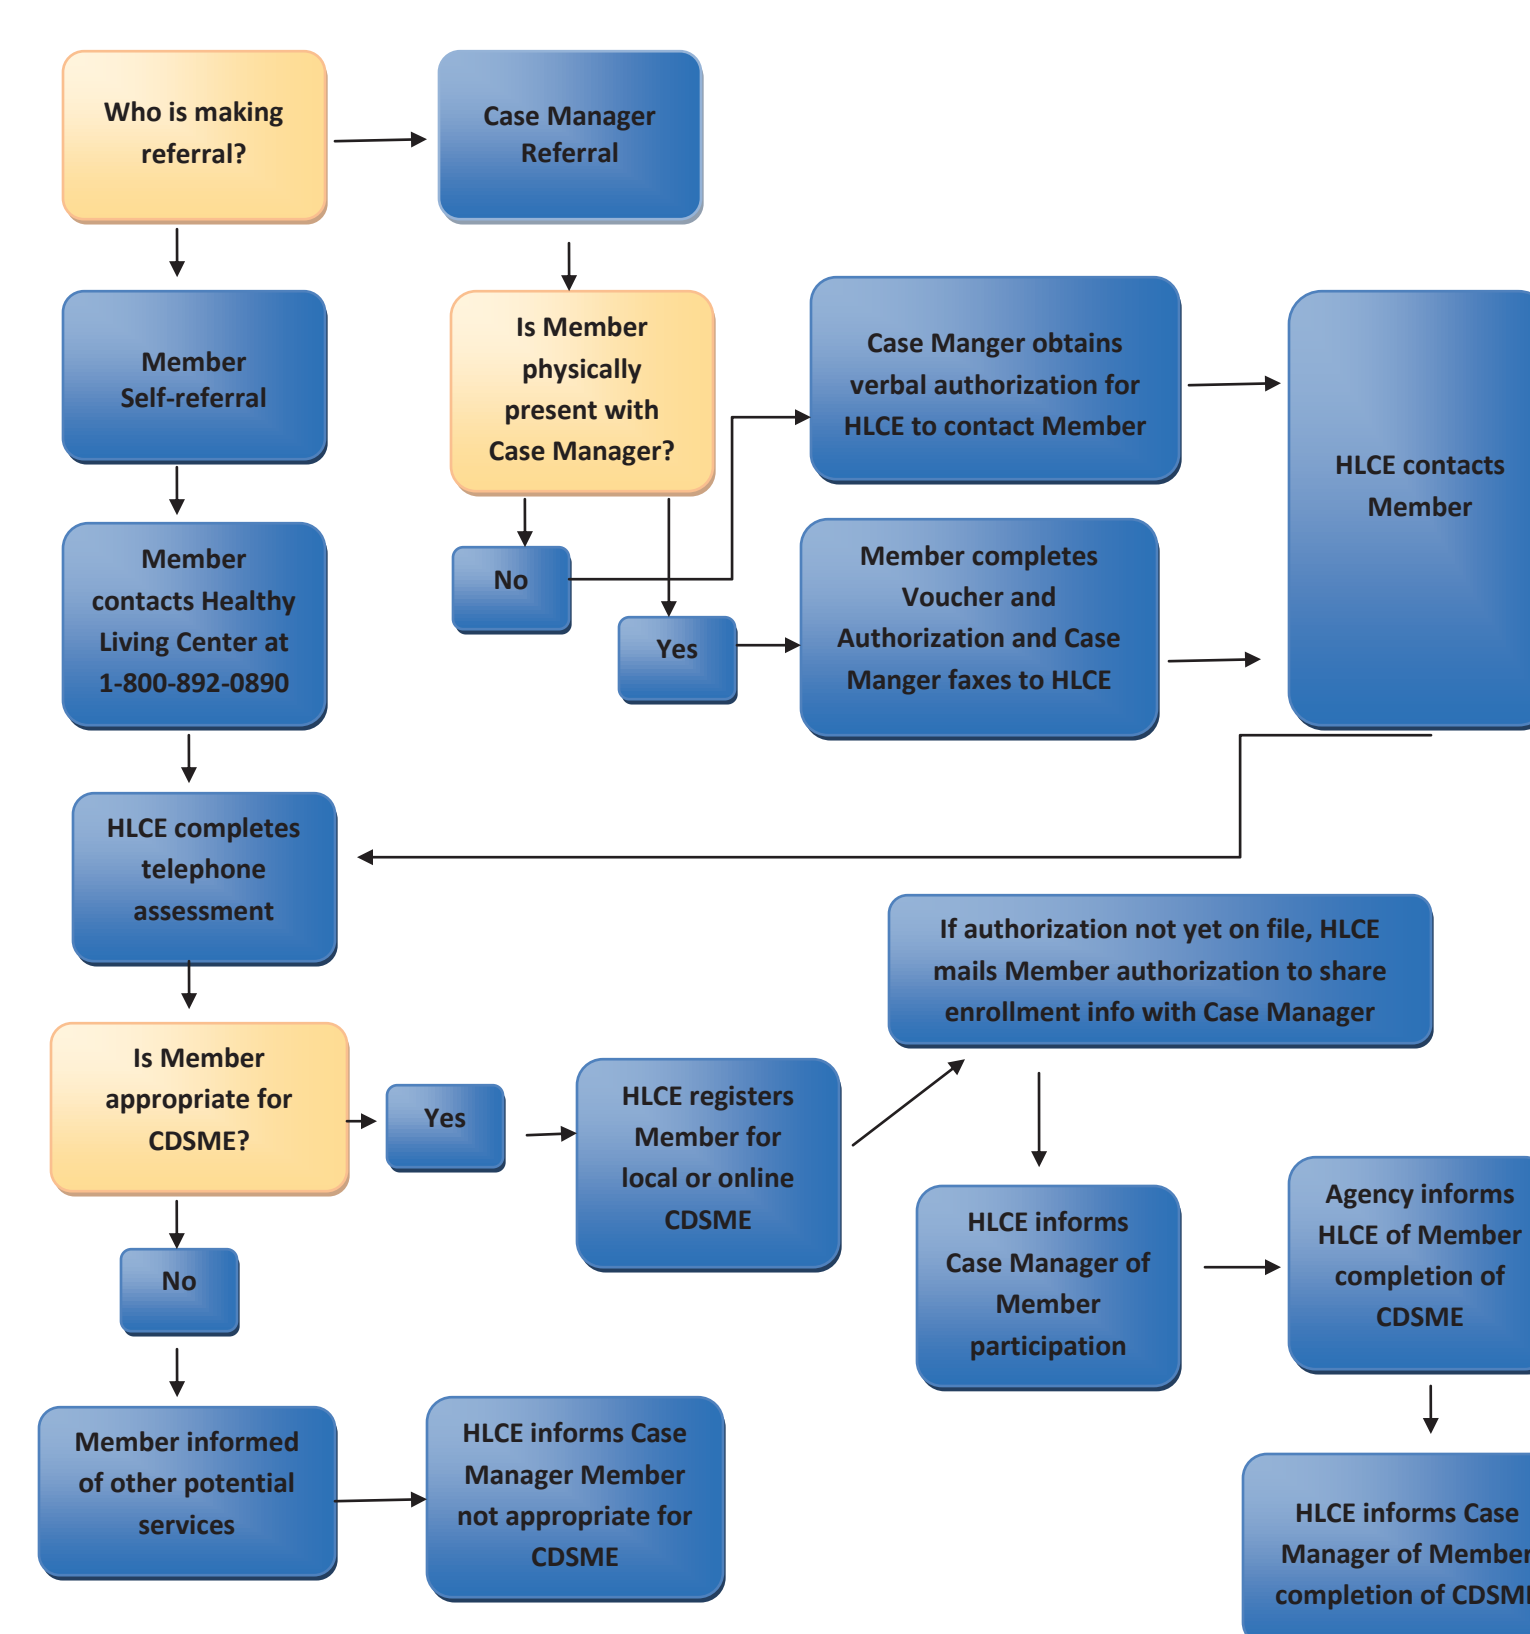

Dedham Medical Associates
Atrius Members
High Cost/High Risk Patient Review

Hebrew SeniorLife
Referral into CDSME Programs

Tufts Health Plan & Healthy Living Center of Excellence

Tufts Health Plan
Education of Care Managers
Development of Referral Pathway
Healthy Living Center of Excellence
Referral into CDSME Programs

Referral Process

More Information

Jennifer Raymond

617-363-8319 • JenniferRaymond@hsl.harvard.edu • healthyliving4me.org

Director of Evidence-Based Programs

Hebrew SeniorLife

A Partnership with:

The Power to Redefine Aging.

Hebrew SeniorLife

HARVARD MEDICAL SCHOOL
AFFILIATE

Elder Services of the Merrimack Valley, Inc.

Choices for a life-long journey

TUFTS Health Plan FOUNDATION

ELDER EXECUTIVE OFFICE OF AFFAIRS
Promoting Your Independence

THE JOHN A. HARTFORD FOUNDATION
1929